Ceramica del Conca Spa was conceived in 1979 by entrepreneurs with experience in the field of construction, both in Italy and abroad, new to the world of tiles, but sensitive to the technological evolution and growing expectations of the market. It was the first company in the industry to believe in singlefired white body glazed stoneware tiles, just as it was the first to employ porcelain stoneware technology, becoming a reference point as a company for the industry and putting into practice valid systems choices with determination in times of general uncertainty in the technical field. Today, the company is known internationally for the quality of its products, the excellence of its service, its ability for innovation and the design it offers.

Founded in 1962 in the territory of the Republic of San Marino, for a few years it was little more than an artisan workshop, where the workers applied expertise developed in local artistic production to series processing. This detail is destined to remain one of the distinctive features of Ceramic Faetano's products, where a particular originality and autonomy with respect to current tastes continue to be identified. Specialized in the manufacture of ceramic tiles for flooring and walls, Ceramica Faetano has consistently applied the most advanced technologies compatible with this use.
